

PREMIER PUBLIC RELATIONS

jasonshankey
MALE GROOMING

look
THE PART

Leading Male Grooming salon group Jason Shankey has teamed up with Warner Home Video to offer 3 lucky winners the chance to own a copy of The Hangover DVD, hailed by critics and audiences alike as THE must-see comedy of the year!

IT ISN'T CHRISTMAS WITHOUT THE HANGOVER TO BEAT ALL HANGOVERS... RECOVER WITH A BLU-RAY & DVD FROM 7 DECEMBER 2009

"Miss it at your peril 10/10" – Daily Star

"The funniest film to appear in ages" – The Times

"The perfect bad-lad comedy" – The Daily Telegraph

"Rude, crude and downright distasteful – this film is brilliant" – The Sun

When four friends - Bradley Cooper (He's Just Not That into You, Yes Man), Ed Helms (The Office, Family Guy) Zach Galifianakis, (What Happened in Vegas) and Justin Bartha (The Rebound) embark on the stag party to beat all stag parties little do they know the trouble they will cause! With outrageous, unmissable performances under the direction of cult comedy genius Todd Phillip (Starsky and Hutch, Road Trip), The Hangover is the one DVD you will want to watch again and again.

The ultimate in bachelor-style decadence, The Hangover should be on everyone's Christmas wish list this year. Two days before the wedding in his father-in-law's beloved Mercedes, Doug (Justin Bartha) heads off with his best buddies Stu (Ed Helms), Phil (Bradley Cooper) and his slightly disturbed, soon-to-be, brother-in-law Alan (Zach Galifianakis) for a weekend they will never forget in the bright lights of Las Vegas – the city of sin.

Fast forward to the morning after the night before and the gang wake up in their trashed penthouse suite. With a missing groom, no memory and a tiger in the bathroom, the trio must race against time and piece together the remains of the night before to find Doug before he misses his big day.

Embroiled in the hangover from hell, the boys unearth a trail of hilarious trouble, from Stu marrying Jade (Heather Graham – The Rebound, Spy Who Shagged Me) the stripper, being burdened by an anonymous baby, to discovering the bathroom-dwelling tiger was, in fact, stolen from non-other than boxing legend Mike Tyson. When they uncover a naked Chinese man in Doug's father-in-law's car they realise that Doug has been kidnapped and held to ransom for $80,000. Following a heroic "Rain Man" performance from Alan at the casino to raise the funds, they pay the ransom money and to their horror realise that Doug was never kidnapped in the first place – so where on earth is Doug? Plink, plink, fizz... The Hangover gets more intense and hysterical on Blu-ray with an extended cut not available on the DVD. Packed with exclusive BD-Live content, the Blu-ray release of the year takes you closer to the action as you hit Vegas at the push of a button, but without suffering the jetlag. BD-Live content constantly updates itself allowing you to interact with the film's content making this the must have Blu-ray for 2009.

The Hangover is released on Blu-ray and DVD, 7 December by Warner Home Video

To enter please visit www.jasonshankey.com and follow Hangover Movie to fill in your contact details. Alternatively, fill in an entry form in-store. Entries close on the 4th December 2009 and Winners will be notified week commencing the 7th December 2009. For press enquiries call Duncan at Premier PR on 0207 292 8330 or email: duncan.purves@premierpr.com